LOCAL PERSPECTIVE

EDITORIAL

The Sky is Not Falling!

I know this is a very hard pill to swallow for a lot of Hillary Clinton supporters, but let's put her loss in perspective. Many social media outlets have concentrated on how distraught her supporters were on her loss.

But, what is very puzzling to me is their obsessive, destructive and very unhealthy behavior towards President-Elect Donald Trump. And what is even more disturbing is how some of Clinton's supporters are denigrating those who supported Trump. The man isn't even in office, yet but you want to speculate on what he will do based on what he has said.

A lot of the Hillary Clinton supporters were old enough to vote for her in 2008 when she was supposed to be the Golden Girl and be a shoe-in for the Democratic Presidential Nomination.

Why were you not upset when the Democratic Committee decided to that an untested newbie Senator Barack Obama was the more popular choice for the Presidency?

This is my theory: It had to be decided what would be more historical: The first woman President or the first black President.

Barack Obama, his wife Michelle and their two daughters fitted the bill perfectly. They had the star power/charisma/ the look and the demeanor that could perfectly grace the covers of Time, Newsweek and People Magazines, etc. You couldn't ask for more eloquent speakers than Barack and Michelle Obama. They were the picture perfect couple with two young beautiful and smart daughters.

As a matter of fact, a lot of people had expressed that they wish that Michelle would run for President. And who knows, maybe some day she will.

But getting back to Hillary Clinton, why did these women, especially those in the entertainment field and could vote for her in 2008 not cry out for her then? After all, Hillary had the best teacher in her husband, Bill, who was known to be able to work well with the Republican Party. Shouldn't she have scored points for this?

Hillary got the consolation prize of being appointed Secretary of State. 2008 would have been the perfect opportunity for her supporters to help her break through the glass ceiling and you let her down big time. If you think about it, she could have easily gone under the slogan of hope and change. There would have been two historical changes. The first female President of the United States and the first time there would have been a husband and wife who were Presidents of the United States. What a wild number that would have been.

Perhaps it is your guilt that is coming through and Donald Trump has become your whipping boy.

Yes, we agree that Donald Trump had a potty mouth and other things he had said gets him into trouble.

People have a right to protest. They don't have the right to destroy another person's property, harm another person or block roadways. Those are unlawful acts and people are getting away with doing it and I don't respect people who do so.

Isn't it ironic that some of the protestors didn't even vote or were not old enough to vote. What does derogatory name calling accomplish? There are a lot of hard-working people who supported all four Presidential candidates. They are just trying very hard to support their families, pay their bills, (medical and basic necessities) while trying to keep a roof over their heads. They're just like some of you. We all have to live with each other and it's crazy to let political personalities be the bane of tearing apart families and friends. If friendships and families mean that much to you, political differences should never tear you apart.

The day after the election there were many people who went about their daily routine instead of protesting.

There are well-known figures in the entertainment, sports, political arena and other fields that have helped fuel these protests. I'm going to give kudos to two sports figures who supported Hillary, but showed the most dignity in her defeat. LeBron James of the NBA World Champions Cleveland Cavaliers: "More than anything, you have to respect the presidency. If you have different views, you're allowed to have different views. That's what's amazing about this country. We're not going to imprison people with different views. But if you want to stand up and you want to say, 'Hey look, my views don't coincide with this current administration,' then you have opportunities, especially being leaders in your respective communities."

Charles Barkley: "Somebody always loses an election. We've been fortunate that we've won the last couple with President Obama. We didn't win this one. But like I said, I respect the office of the president of the United States, and we have to give him a chance. Everything he's said in the past, that's water under the bridge. We have to give him a chance, and we have to support him because he's the president of the United States of America."

As hard as it is for the Hillary supporters, and yes I did see the pain and anguish in your faces and I can sympathize, but read and absorb closely the comments made by LeBron James and Charles Barkley. They are healing and healthy words.

You woke up this morning, you are still alive and still breathing. Nothing happened to you overnight. The sun is still shining.

Unless you are protesting yourself, or blocked by protestors as you are on the way to your daily activities, nothing has changed, yet. That change will occur when Donald J. Trump is sworn in as the 45th President. Of course, when Barrack Obama was elected President, a lot of people were elated because he broke the glass ceiling because he was the first Black President. A lot of people voted for him (Black, White, etc.) just they wanted to be a part of history. Yes, some proclaimed that Barack Obama is not my president, but I can't remember any of those who voted against him protesting or rioting on the streets.

Regardless on how you felt, unless you moved out of the country and gave up your citizenship, Barack Obama was your president. This is will also be true of those who said that Trump is not their president.

On Saturday morning, when I was listening to the radio, a person called into a talk show and quoted Former British Prime Minister Tony Blair. Blair said, "You can measure the greatness of a country as to how many people try to get into a country and not get out."

So there were 23 individuals in the entertainment field who vowed to leave the country if Donald Trump became president. One even threatened to move to Jupiter. I guess we'll be seeing For Sale signs going up on their houses soon.

I very much like the music of our two Jersey Boys: Bruce Springsteen and Jon Bon Jovi. Their songs reflect the plight of the blue collar working class across America. It's ironic that it's those citizens that pushed Donald Trump to the top.

Comfort Dogs, Comfort Rooms, wearing Safety Pins, Safe Spaces and Crying Rooms have been made available to those still mourning Hillary's loss.

My advice: is that remember this sentence: "You are still breathing. Has your life changed drastically overnight? What has Donald Trump personally done to you at this very moment to cause you harm.? If you can answer those questions please e-mail your responses. As always, your opinions are welcome.

THE COMMUNITY VOICE

Illegal Housing & Illegal Immigrants

Wouldn't it be reasonable to assume that some residents who live in illegal attics or basement dwellings are here illegally? One can further assume that the landlords do not report the income of the rent they receive and are therefore cheating both the State and Federal Governments out of tax revenue. To stretch logic even further aren't the landlords guilty of aiding and abetting since their tenants are here without authorization?

Sincerely,
Michael J. Rusznak

Homeownership is important.

We're here to help homebuyers navigate the mortgage process and make buying a home affordable, even if you have little money for a downpayment, little or "less-than-perfect" credit history or have had a recent job change.

And, for a limited time, M&T is providing loan subsidies to homebuyers that can exceed $10,000 in downpayment, closing cost and interest rate assistance in certain areas. As a good neighbor and integral part of the communities we serve, it's important that M&T makes homebuying easy and affordable for you. Vitale Statement On Conditional Veto of Bill Concerning Unemployment Benefits and Labor Disputes

Press Release 11/14/16
 TRENTON - Senate Health, Human Services and Senior Citizens Committee Chairman Joseph F. Vitale issued the following statement after the Governor conditionally vetoed legislation (S-2160) he sponsored with Senate President Steve Sweeney that would have extended unemployment insurance benefits to workers on strike during a labor dispute:

"The Governor's action is disappointing and a disservice to New Jersey workers who are forced to strike as a last resort in their pursuit of fair compensation and treatment during a labor dispute. His conditional veto not only guts the intent of the bill, but it leaves individuals vulnerable to poor employment practices.

"Striking workers not only lose their wages in their struggle for fair pay, but also risk losing their health benefits. Failing to provide unemployment compensation leaves workers and their families who may be in the midst of receiving medical treatment stranded without health benefits or any income to pay for their medical expenses.

"Every worker deserves to be fairly compensated and to be treated with dignity, but there must be some recourse if negotiations fail. For many, going on strike is the only option, and we should not be punishing them for fighting for their rights."

Congressman Pallone's Statement on Veterans Day

Press Release 11/10/16
 WASHINGTON, DC -- Today, Congressman Frank Pallone, Jr. (NJ-06) issued the following statement in honor of Veterans Day, which is held each year on November 11th.

"On Veteran's Day, Americans across the country salute our brave men and women in uniform who have sacrificed so much for our nation. We renew our pledge to make sure that their service and sacrifice are never forgotten and remember that every day America is safer because of the veterans who have come before us and because of the men and women who serve today.

"On Veteran's Day we renew our commitment to the 22 million veterans living all across America, including the nearly 2.1 million active duty troops and reservists currently serving in our Armed Forces. I am proud to represent the more than 28,000 veterans living in New Jersey's 6th Congressional District. As a nation, we must fulfill our commitment to make sure that our veterans have the tools and resources to live healthy and successful lives.

"I am proud of the positive steps we have taken to help veterans with the support they deserve. As of June 2016, more than 2.6 million veterans, service members, and eligible spouses are active VA home loan participants, and more than 22 million VA home loans have

Spies in the Revolutionary War

WOODBIDGE - If you can't outfight them, then out spy them was a leading premise of George Washington, the Commander in Chief of the Continental Army, during the American Revolution. Based on Washington's experience fighting for the British in the French and Indian War, he soon realized in the early years of the Revolution that the army of the American colonists was no match for that of Great Britain.

On Monday, November 28, you are invited to attend the monthly meeting of the Historical Association of Woodbridge Township at the Main Library. November's program will feature Damien M. Cregeau, historian and consultant, discussing Spies in the Revolutionary War. The noted speaker is a member of the Connecticut Order of the Founders and Patriots of America, Vice President of the Sons of the American Revolution and member of the Wethersfield Connecticut Historic District Commission.

The meeting begins at 7pm in the Downstairs Meeting Room of the Woodbridge Main Library located on Amboy Avenue. Light refreshments will follow.

Movie Review: Dr. Strange

By: Anton Massopust III
"The Avengers defend the world from natural threats; we defend it from magical ones." - Master of the Mystic Arts

Dr. Strange is a Marvel character that most people have never heard of, and even Marvel fans know of him but not a lot about him. Dr. Strange is the creation of Stan Lee and Steve Ditko. While they were working on Spider-Man, they also wrote for Strange Tales comic books. They based the character of Stephen Strange on Mandrake the Magician as well as old time radio characters. As one might expect, this is an origin story, so it begins with Dr. Strange the surgeon, who is always looking for the next big case. He doesn't really look at people as people, he just looks at the prestige that healing them can bring him. After an auto accident leaves him with extensive nerve damage, he is unable to do the complicated surgeries that he used to.

Strange goes on a quest in the hopes of finding a way to get back to the way it used to be. Traditional medicine will not heal his nerve damage, so he travels to the far east where he finds the Ancient One, a mysterious figure who taps into the energy of the universe itself. In standard origin story fashion he discovers that there are larger problems that must be faced and I won't reveal further but assume that there are bad guys, huge threats to the world and even the universe as we know it and Strange must face them down.

Dr. Strange is a great movie and has plenty of humor as well as really wonderful acting. Benedict Cumberbatch is amazing as Stephen Strange, and the supporting cast is phenomenal too. The real star is the special f/x that really makes you believe in the Inception-esque world altering powers that many of the characters' possess. The movie shifts around from locals such as China, London, and New York City and makes excellent use of them. Many reviews suggest, if not insist that you see it in 3D and I'm not convinced. IMAX, yes, but 3D might be a bit disorienting for some viewers. As always, stay to the end to watch the extra credits scene, and watch for Strange's return in the next Avengers movie.

This Week in World War II 75 Years Ago

By: Phil Kohn. Dedicated to the memory of his father, GM3 Walter Kohn, U.S. Navy Armed Guard, USNR, and all men and women who have answered the country's call in time of need. Phil can be contacted at ww2remembered@yahoo.com.

On November 14, 1941, the British aircraft carrier HMS Ark Royal sinks off Gibraltar while under tow after being torpedoed the previous day in the Mediterranean by German submarine U-81. At Slonim, Belorussia, German SS Einsatzgruppen (task forces) murder 9,000 Jews. Germany bans the news correspondents of the American NBC, CBS and Mutual radio networks. (NBC and Mutual had actually ended their news-broadcasting operations the previous day due to Nazi censorship of their material.) In Washington, President Roosevelt announces that the 980 U.S. Marines stationed in China are being withdrawn.

The Germans renew their attack on Moscow on November 15, with panzer tanks attacking the capital from the north and the south.

In Ukraine, Kerch, on the far eastern part of the Crimean peninsula, falls to the German 11th Army under Gen. Erich von Manstein on November 16. Attacks continue against the Soviet naval base at Sevastopol on the southern tip of the Crimea.

Operation Silver Fox, a joint German-Finnish attempt to capture the Soviet Arctic port of Murmansk, comes to an end on November 17 as the Red Army successfully fends off the attacks. Joseph Grew, the U.S. ambassador to Japan, sends a cable from Tokyo to Washington, D.C., warning that Japan may strike suddenly and unexpectedly. In Washington, President Roosevelt signs off on the changes to Section 5 of the Neutrality Act that have been approved by Congress, allowing the U.S. to arm its merchant ships. In Berlin, Hitler appoints Nazi Party ideologist Alfred Rosenberg as head of the new Reich Ministry for Occupied Eastern Territories. Rosenberg's mandate is to "remove undesirable elements" and to exploit the areas for German economic benefit.

In North Africa, "Operation Crusader" — a British Eighth Army offensive to relieve the siege of Tobruk — begins on November 18 with a sortie across the Egyptian border into Libya. (British and Commonwealth forces in North Africa have been reorganized into the Eighth Army, under command of Lt. Gen. Alan Cunningham.) In Tokyo, the Japanese Diet approves a "resolution of hostility" directed against the U.S. Eleven submarines depart Japan to take up station-keeping posts and undertake scouting missions off Hawaii. Another nine Japanese vessels depart the naval base at Kwajalein, in the Marshall Islands, headed for Hawaii.

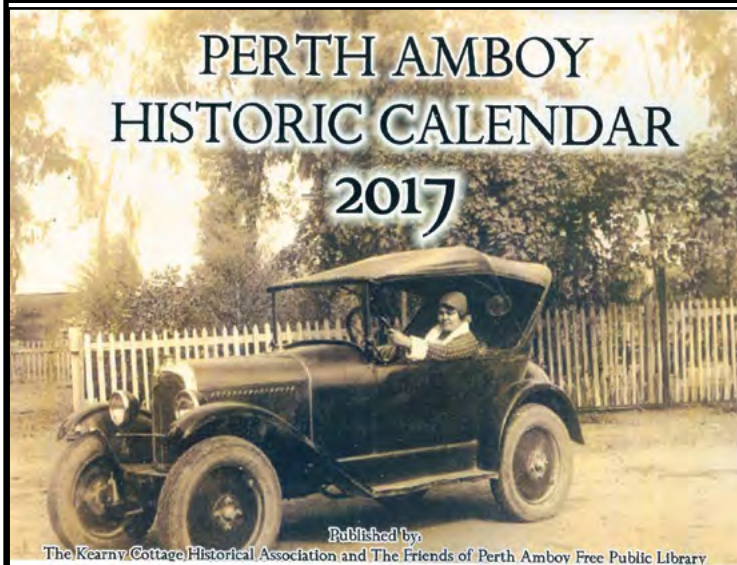

Both the commerce-raiding German auxiliary cruiser Kormoran and the Australian cruiser HMAS Sydney sink following their engagement on November 19 off the coast of Western Australia. There are no survivors from the crew of 645 Australians aboard Sydney; Kormoran's casualties number six officers and 76 sailors of the 400-man crew. The British 7th Armoured Brigade reaches Sidi Rezegh, Libya, 10 miles south of Tobruk, as part of Operation Crusader. British Field Marshall Sir John Dill retires as Chief of the Imperial General Staff. He is succeeded by Gen. Sir Alan Brooke.

On November 20, in North Africa, the British 4th Armoured Brigade engages the German 15th Panzer Division and takes heavy losses. Gen. Cunningham orders the Tobruk garrison to begin breakout attacks. In Washington, Japanese ambassador Nomura and special envoy Saburo Kurusu propose to U.S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull that, in return for Japanese withdrawal from Indochina and a pledge that Japan will make no further armed advances in Southeast Asia, the U.S. should give Japan a free hand in China, relax all trade restrictions and halt U.S. naval expansion in the Pacific.

Novena to St. Rita

O holy protectress of those who art in greatest need, thou who shineth as a star of hope in the midst of darkness, blessed Saint Rita, bright mirror of God's grace, in patience and fortitude thou art a model of all the states in life. I unite my will with the will of God through the merits of my Savior Jesus Christ, and in particular through his patient wearing of the crown of thorns, which with tender devotion thou didst daily contemplate. Through the merits of the holy Virgin Mary and thine own graces and virtues, I ask thee to obtain my earnest petition, provided it be for the greater glory of God and my own sanctification. Guide and purify my intention, O holy protectress and advocate, so that I may obtain the pardon of all my sins and the grace to persevere daily, as thou didst in walking with courage, generosity, and fidelity down the path of life. (Mention your request.) Saint Rita, advocate of the impossible, pray for us. Saint Rita, advocate of the helpless, pray for us. Recite the Our Father, Hail Mary, and Glory Be three times each. K.M. & C.M.
