PERTH AMBOY – The "Working For You" slate for City Council handed in their petitions on 9/4/18. They are newcomers to the political scene.

The supporting community gathered to join the three council candidates, Alana Cueto, Vincent Makfinsky and Marilou Villacis for their formal introduction to the public and the grand opening of the campaign headquarters at 364 State Street.

South Amboy Trying Out New Bulk Garbage Pickup

By: Joseph L. Kuchie

SOUTH AMBOY - South Amboy is experimenting with a new bulk garbage pickup plan that will allow residents to throw away all their bulk garbage at once rather than break it up over time.

Currently when a resident wants to throw away bulk items from their homes they must call the Department of Public Works to get stickers for each bulk item but are limited to how many items they can throw out per week. The city's new plan would allow residents to throw away an unlimited amount of garbage at once on a designated date based on their trash pickup schedule.

"We're trying an experiment this month with the bulk pickup," Business Administrator Glenn Skarzynski said. "We normally do once a week believe it or not, but it's limited to three or four items. What we're trying for September is hitting each neighborhood based on your trash pickup day and it's pretty much everything goes. If you get it to the curb and it's not hazardous, we'll take it."

September 5th was the first day of the trial run, with the "Monday zone" getting their chance to participate. Each Wednesday a new zone will be able to participate until the end of the month, and then the city will decide what the next steps are.

Skarzynski noted that the numbers are consistent with the current pick up plan with less labor involved. The city has launched a poll on the South Amboy Facebook page to see which option residents would prefer moving forward.

"We normally do 24 tons a month doing that weekly thing, we did the Monday people to-

"Perth Amboy First" Candidates Kick Off City Council Campaign

Press Release 9/6/18

PERTH AMBOY – Councilmen Bill Petrick, Joel Pabon and school board member Milady Tejeda – running on the "Perth Amboy First" ticket – officially kicked off their campaign after submitting several hundred petitions for the Nov. 6th council race.

The trio of candidates are emphasizing the importance of electing independent council members who put city residents first and are not beholden to the mayor. Petrick, Pabon and Tejeda are seeking three available City Council seats in the Nov. 6th election.

"People in Perth Amboy deserve independent leaders who actually listen to them and act on their behalf. They deserve bold leaders with a clear vision of our city's future and energetic leaders, active in our community," said Council President Bill Petrick. "We are those leaders."

Councilman Joel Pabon agreed. "We are not a rubber stamp for the mayor or for any political party or special interest. We bring a fresh perspective on issues facing our city. We ask tough questions and seek for alternative, cost-efficient solutions," Pabon said. "That's what being independent means." Milady Tejeda, a three-term Board of Education member, said her goal is a wider platform to serve city residents. "Like many people in Perth Amboy, I came here as an immigrant and worked hard to succeed. Perth Amboy has been good to me and my family," Tejeda said. "Serving on the City Council is another chance for me to give back to my community."

Experience and long-standing community ties are two assets the "Perth Amboy First" team will emphasize in their campaign. Each has years of experience on major municipal boards, as well as long-standing commitments to community service.

Pabon is an Army veteran who retired as a first sergeant after

Milady Tejeda

23 years. He now supervises the U.S. Post Office at Perth Amboy. As a two-term Council member and former council day and we did 21 tons, so the number is pretty consistent," Skarzynski said. "I've got a poll up actually on Facebook to see what people would prefer, the weekly with the limits or quarterly with no limits and right now quarterly is leading two to one but we're early, they've got a week to vote."

"That seems to be the direction we're looking to go in because not only is it a little bit easier to manage for us, it also will free up the DPW crew three additional days a week that we can use for something else," he added.

This new bulk pick-up plan comes just weeks after residents filed multiple complaints with the city regarding rat sightings in South Amboy. Skarzynski noted that the problem has improved since the city began their investigation and started cracking down on certain unkept properties.

"We had our recent rodent problem which seems to have abated," he said. "We haven't had a complaint in almost two weeks since we went in to the areas that were affected and engaged in some heavy enforcement and we're getting good compliance there."

All council members were in attendance for the business meeting. South Amboy's next city council meeting will be held on September 19th at 7:00 p.m.

The Memorials We Never Would Have Imagined

The Tower of Voices in Shanksville, PA

New York City World Trade Center Memorial, Washington D.C. Memorial for the Pentagon, Shanksville Pennsylvania, and memorials built in large and small towns mostly in New York and New Jersey, which I wish never had to be built.

Unfortunately, September 11, 2001 did happen, which is why all of these memorials had to be erected.

There now is a new memorial in Shanksville, PA. It cost $6 million and is 93 feet tall and has 40 wind chimes for each of the 40 victims. Each chimes at a unique frequency to honor the victims of Flight 93.

This is now the 17th Anniversary of the day the world stood still. Even though some people said they have moved on, I'm sure there's a little piece of their hearts that we will always remember those that they lost.

Let's not forget there are still people living today who are suffering physically from the air that they inhaled that day. Lawsuits are still ongoing. In these instances, the money does help, but if they had their choice, they would rather have their loved ones back and their health.

Watching the televised ceremony at the World Trade Center Memorial in New York, you can hear the emotion of those who speak the names of the fallen victims. It's still gut-wrenching, especially to those survivors whose loved one's remains were never recovered (physical or material).

We are used to Memorials which have been built for people who have been victims of violence, but we could never imagine there could be such a massive attack on American soil. It was a big wake-up call and immediately security was tightened around airports and other ports of entry around the United States. People became more vigilant.

After a couple of years, the reigns became a little bit looser. It's a little bit scary when they have reports to see how vulnerable security checkpoints were at US airports. There were a lot of breeches of security where people posed a threat.

As stated previously, people are always being profiled. How many ads pop up on your next window on the web because you did a previous search on something? Often, you may be doing a search requested by someone else, and then all of a sudden, you're getting that information that you have no interest in. Profiling is the name of the game, and it's never going to change.

The scary part is when a person that doesn't hit the normal profile and commits a heinous act.

We also remember how those planes were taken down, which were not with the usual weapons. It was something people use every day of their lives and not think anything of it.

17 years went by very quickly. C.M. & K.M.

Meditation

Press Release 8/24/18

WOODBIDGE - Life in today's world is stressful. People are anxious about their health, their finances, their relationships, their safety and their work. Please join Jim Rose, M Ed Rutgers University, retired Senior Executive of Johnson & Johnson who has been meditating for over 30 years for this engaging and powerful workshop on Monday, September 24, 7pm @ the Woodbridge Main Library.

Doctors and medical practitioners are promoting the benefits of meditation to relieve stress and anxiety. By sitting in meditation, we can calm the body and the mind. We can slow our brain waves to states of relaxation. When we are in a state of physical and mental calmness, we have more control over our reactions towards life's stressors. We can make better decisions. We can react more calmly to others, alleviating the tension in our relationships. Once we connect to a place of happiness and peace within us, we experience a reduction in our anxiety. Through meditation we can cope with the stresses of life. Meditation helps us replace anxiety with joy and peace. During this program there will be a short meditation sitting.

This program is free and open to all. The Woodbridge Main Library is located at 1 George Frederick Plaza, Woodbridge, NJ 07095.

Tom's Tax Tips

Are You Sharing Too Much Information Online?

In today's digital age, it is impossible to avoid the internet. Even if you don't have a computer and actively avoid social media, there is information about you in some corner of the web. Here are some tips to help you manage your digital footprint:

- Actively manage your security settings. Every app, social media site and web browser have multiple layers of privacy and security settings. When you download a new app or register with a new site, don't simply trust the default settings. Look through the options yourself to ensure you are comfortable with the level of privacy. One thing to watch for with apps on your phone is location settings. Some apps will track your location even when the app isn't running.

- Protect your online image. Career search firms now have strategies built entirely around recruiting through social media. According to LinkedIn, more than 20,000 companies use their platform to attract new talent. In addition to recruiting, human resource departments will vet prospective employees by reviewing social media profiles.

What you share and how you portray yourself on social media is extremely important to your career. Pay attention to what others post about you, as well. If you are uncomfortable with what they are sharing, have a conversation with them and ask that it be taken down.

- Set boundaries for yourself. According to the Pew Research Center, 74 percent of Facebook users visit the site on a daily basis. And 51 percent say they visit multiple times per day. Try to find the balance that allows you to enjoy connecting with others online but doesn't negatively impact other parts of your life.

In addition to time spent, draw a bright line between what you consider shareable versus personal information. If you have these boundaries in mind when on social media, it will help you think critically before continuing to scroll or posting something.

- Know your friends. Having friends is fun. Having the wrong friends can be harmful and even dangerous. If you receive a friend request from someone you don't know, deny it. They might simply be trying to increase their friend count, but they could be looking to access personal data. Review your friends on every platform on a periodic basis, and don't fret about how many friends you have. Quality is much more important than quantity. The best defense of your private information is you. Having a plan and actively managing your online profiles is the best way to minimize the chance of your personal data falling into the wrong hands.

30 Ways to Fight Hunger In September 2018

Press Release

MIDDLESEX COUNTY - September is Hunger Action Month, and Feeding Middlesex County partnering with MC-FOODS, the Middlesex County food bank, is offering a September calendar with specific tasks individuals can complete to fight local hunger. Day by day, there are simple and creative ways to make a difference.

Some examples are “Tomato Thursday” when you can donate sauce and pasta to MCFOODS; participating in East Brunswick Day on September 23rd at the Community Arts Center to donate food to MCFOODS; and plan your very own food drive.

MCFOODS coordinator Jennifer Apostol commented “There are so many things everyone can do to help those who go hungry here in Middlesex County where 1 in 7 residents are food insecure. This calendar can serve as a catalyst for the kinds of tasks people can take on in order to fight hunger.”

Food donations are accepted in a variety of places on a regular basis. For example, libraries in East Brunswick, Edison, Metuchen, Milltown, Monroe, North Brunswick, Perth Amboy, Piscataway, Plainsboro, South Amboy, South Brunswick, South Plainfield, Spotswood and Woodbridge accept items year round. Plays in the Park in Roosevelt Park now accepts food and monetary donations at performances. A number of the active adult communities in Monroe Township run food drives during October each year. And over 100 schools in the county participate in the annual school food drive in the spring.

Have you ever thought about how New Jersey was created? Perhaps you've wondered about how East and West Jersey came to be? Or you've considered how life changed for landowners as the American Revolution intensified? The way the state developed before, during, and after the revolution, including some of its distinctive features that still remain today, is fascinating. In this session, significant topics like New Jersey's role in politics, transportation, trade, and agricultural on the eve of revolution will be explored. Sponsored by the Kearny Cottage Historical Association. There is suggested donation of $5.00 which would be appreciated.

This Week in World War II
75 Years Ago

On September 10, the Wehrmacht occupies Naples and Rome and announces that it is taking over “the protection” of Vatican City. British troops land on the Dodecanese Islands in the Aegean Sea. Twenty-two Italian warships — four battleships, seven cruisers and eleven destroyers — that fled Italy arrive at the British naval base at Malta and surrender to the Royal Navy.

Anti-Nazi Partisans in Yugoslavia on September 11 take over and secure the port city of Split, Croatia, on the Adriatic Sea. Across the Adriatic, British troops reach Brindisi, Italy. In the Atlantic, a German U-boat sets an extensive pattern of mines off the coast of South Carolina. Curiously, the floating weapons never result in damage to any vessel. In the Aegean Sea, the three-day Battle of Rhodes between Italian and German troops that had been on the island — originally as allies — ends in a German victory, with 446 Italians dead and 30,000 taken prisoner.

On August 12, Benito Mussolini, being held prisoner by the Italian government at the Campo Imperiale Hotel atop the Gran Sasso (a high mountain in the Abruzzo region of central Italy), is rescued by SS Maj. Otto Skorzeny leading a daring glider attack by 100 German commandos and paratroopers. Il Duce is freed and taken to Germany. Hitler signs decrees appropriating Italian industry for German uses, as well as annexing to the Greater German Reich the German-speaking regions of northern Italy. The latter move violates the promise given by Hitler to Mussolini in 1940 that Germany had no territorial ambitions south of the Brenner Pass (the pass through the Alps between Italy and Austria). In Stockholm, Sweden, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Dekanozov arrives on a secret mission, awaiting a German contact. In Germany, Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop — alerted that the Soviets might be open to discussing possible peace terms with the Third Reich — pleads with Hitler to be allowed to send an envoy to Stockholm to at least hear what terms Stalin might be willing to offer. Hitler refuses and Dekanozov — after waiting four days for someone to show up — returns to Moscow.

In Asia, Chiang Kai-shek on September 13 is elected to a three-year term as President of the Chinese Republic. He retains his post as commander-in-chief of the Chinese Army. In German-occupied northern Italy, an anti-Badoglio, anti-monarchy Republican Fascist Party is established, replacing the National Fascist Party that was banned after Mussolini’s removal. In Berlin, Adolf Hitler tells his aide, Karl Wolff, that he wants Pope Pius XII deported to Germany. Almost simultaneously, Ernst von Weizsacker, Germany’s emissary to the Vatican, delivers “Hitler’s personal assurances” that the city-state’s independence as a sovereign nation will be protected and that its territory within Rome will be exempt from attack. Farther south, a German counterattack pierces the Allies’ perimeter at the Salerno beachhead, but is turned back by a desperate defense about a half mile from the water’s edge.

British troops on September 14 take Bari, a port on the Adriatic Sea in southeastern Italy. American troops land on Sardinia. Albania declares its independence from Italy, which had annexed the Balkan nation in 1939; two German divisions — moved there following the Italian surrender to the Allies — occupy the country.

On September 15, the Australian 7th and 9th Divisions capture Lae, in Papua-New Guinea, after very heavy fighting. Benito Mussolini, from Hitler’s “Wolf’s Lair” headquarters in Rastenburg, Poland, proclaims his return to power and re-establishes fascism in northern Italy. The German-Italian Axis is declared resumed and the death penalty is introduced for Italians carrying arms in German-occupied areas. Despite the Vatican’s neutrality and Hitler’s “personal assurances” of exemption from attack, German paratroopers take position in St. Peter’s Square.

British troops begin landing on Italian-held Greek islands in the Aegean Sea on September 16 — Kos, Leros and Samos are among the first. The Red Army recaptures the Black Sea port city of Novorossiysk, Russia, from the Germans.

A Petition to
St. Jude

Dear St. Joseph, head of the most perfect household, foster father of Jesus and guardian of His mother Mary, I confidently place myself and all my concerns under your care and protection. I ask that, through your powerful intercession with God, you obtain for me all the help and graces that I need for my spiritual and temporal welfare and in particular, the special favor I now ask there mention or think of your home sale or any other petition, especially family needs. Good St. Joseph, I know with confidence, that your prayers on my behalf will be heard by God and that He will grant my request, if it be for His glory and my greater good. Thank you St. Joseph, for having responded to my call. Amen.
